PROOF SHOWN THAT REFEREE RICKARD WAS INCOMPETENT.

Ring Experts Point to Illegal Clinching by Jeffries and Johnson, Rule Breaking by Corbett, Failure to Declare a Foul and Omission of the Counting Out.

Reviewing the Jeffries-Johnson fight in their calm moments many ring experts have reached the conclusion that Tex Rickard as referee signally failed to enforce the Queensberry rules, which governed the battle. Those who saw the big fellows meet at Reno or have since viewed the moving pictures are inclined to find much fault with Rickard's conduct in the ring In the first place it is pointed out that Rick-ard permitted Jeffries and Johnson to hold in the clinches in a way that was surpris-ing. While the articles of agreement stipulated that the referee could not step between ized him to order the men to break away at the word of command. From all accounts Rickard allowed the pugilists to hug and clinch to their hearts' content without once cautioning them or ordering them to sep-

Sporting Club of London, where the Queens-berry code is always enforced to the letter, t is pointed out that the referee would have warned the men once to break out warned the men once to break of clinches and upon a second offence he would have disqualified whichever man was at fault. There are referees of recognized ability in this country who would have interfered with the holding tacties which prevailed in almost every round, in which event a much cleaner and more interesting fight would have been the result.

Rickard also permitted Jim Corbett to break the rules by walking to a neutral corner between rounds for the purpose of annoying Johnson with personal re-marks. If Bickard had been familiar with the rules of the ring and had been willing to enforce them it is argued that he would have ordered Corbett outside of the ropes, and upon the latter's refusal to leave he would have disqualified Jeffries. Rickard's toleration of Corbett's unheard of methods therefore has been used as proof that the referee did not know his business and plainly showed it. After the first knockdown sustained by that the boilerinaker was still able to stand up.

Rickard, admitting that Jeffries technically lost on a foul and also that he didn't count ten seconds after the white man had been put down for the third time, has decided officially that Johnson scored a knockout and that persons who bet that the fight would end that way won their money. Taking all these facts into consideration therefore many well posted followers of puglism declare that there can be no room for doubt as to Rickard's incompetency. That he was clearly rattled and did not know what action to take at critical moments goes without saying.

Hildreth's Fitz Herbert, with 138 pounds is expected town the $10,000 Dominion Handicap at Fort Eric to-day. In Canada the impression prevails that Pinkola will make Fitz Herbert stretch his neck, but Hildreth is extremely confident. Shilling left here yesterday to take the mount on the Ethelbert horse. It seems to be taken for granted that Hildreth will depend upon Dalmatian to win the $7,500 Saratogs Handicap.

Word has been received by several horsemen here that the winter meeting at Emeryville, Cal., will open on November 12 and that no purse will be less than $500 in value. It is planned to race until about April 1, if not later. The Juarez Jockey Club has posted announcements at Empire City that there will be 100 days of racing at the new Mexican track opposite El Paso, beginning in November. Matt J. Winn has received assurance from many leading turtinen that they will race at Juarez instead of at Jacksonville or Emeryville. In fact Juarez, in offering $500,000 in stakes and purses seems to be a greater magnet than the other winter tracks.

President Farrell of the Highlanders has offered $1,000 to charity if proof of the existence of a signal tipping bureau on the hilltop can be shown. Farrell appears to be needlessly exercised by a canard invented by the members of the Chicago White Sox. Several lawyers who patronize the American League games in this city have urged Farrell to bring a suit for damages against the persons who have spread the report that reflects discredit upon the New York club except among those who know there is absolutely no truth in it.

They had the honor of fighting out their railies on court No. 1, which is the "gallery court," and the brand of tennis they put up was in every way worthy of the crowd and the attention it attracted. Both played much the same sort of a game, shooting a good deal from the region of the base line. All through the match they continually tried for placing shots, at which game Johnson showed his superiority. Pell made some grand returns and be scooped up a number of grounders which drew applause from the gatiery.
